WASHINGTON, July 14.—The amendment made by the Senate to the General Deficiency Appropriation bill, which provides for a Board of Audit to determine the allowances to be made on the claims growing out of the illness and burial of the late President Garfield, gave rise to a long debate in the House to-day.

Mr. Blackburn, in a long speech said that medical science had never furnished so bad an illustration of blind blundering as in the case of the late Chief Magistrate, and he did not believe that Congress could put the seal of its approval on such medical treatment. He denounced the claims of these doctors as frauds. He asked the House to instruct its conference committee to insist on striking out the amendment and never to consent to allow it to go through unless so amended as to do instice to all parties who rendered aid and assistance in the matter.

Mr. Taylor of Ohio, Chairman of the select committee, and representing President Garcommittee, and representing President Garfield's Congressional district, defended himself from the Intimations made against him in Mr. Blackburn's speech. He declared that ever since the report of the committee had been made he had been anxious to have it considered. There had been no bill against the Government or against anybody presented by any of the physicians. There was no question of a steal about the matter. The question was how the matter should be taken out of issue between the estate and the claimants. The object was to save the estate from annoyance and injury. The representatives of the estate would not allow the matter to be litigated. He declared on behalf of Mrs. Garfield that she would never litigate the bill of any physician who attended her husband.

Mr. Page, a member of the select committee, remarked that the surgeons had never claimed, and did not claim, that they had any demand against the Government.

Mr. Blackburn asked him whether there was any evidence before the committee that either of these surgeons had seen Mr. Garfield from the day he was shot till the day he died.

Mr. Page—The gentleman is not serious in asking such a question.

Mr. Blackburn—Indeed I am.

Mr. Page—There was no one to dispute the fact. We never thought of subpenning witnesses to show that these doctors were in attendance. But the committee was in possession of the fact that Dr. Bliss was in attendance seventy-nine days. We all know the number of visits that Drs. Agnew and Hamilton made.

Mr. O'Neill stated two reasons why the House should not convert in the Sanda ages of the second and should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages and the House should not convert in the Sanda ages in the House should not convert in the Sanda ages in the House should not convert in the S field's Congressional district, defended himself number of visits that Drs. Agnew and Hamilton made.

Mr. O'Neill stated two reasons why the House should not concur in the Senate amendment. These were that it was no recognition of the services of Dr. Purvis and Dr. Townshend, the surgeons who were the first to reach the President after the shooting, or of Dr. Lamb, who made the autopsy.

Mr. Springer said that if only $35,000 were allotted to the doctors there would be a more unseemly quarrel over the division than there had been over Guiteau's body. One of them had claimed $25,000 for his own share. The report of the select committee recommended $5,000 for the physicians. There was no evidence of extraordinary skill on their part. On the contrary, it had been stated that a pustavity had been treated for seventy-nine days as the track of the builet, which cavity was itself the result of maipractice. It had also been charged that certain Wall street brokers had been kept advised by eipher telegrams of the condition of the President, the information being different from that in the public builetins. It had also been stated that the chief physician was a volunteer and had crowded out other physicians, and this same doctor now asked for that malpractice $25,000.

He closed with a quotation from Shakespeare:

Pardon me, those bleeding piece of sarth.

That I am meek and gedite with these butchers.

The discussion was continued by Messrs.

Townsend of Ohlo, Tucker. Springer Hiscock, Blackburn, Harris of Massachusetts, McMillin, McCook, Brang, Williams of Wisconsin, and Knott, and various amendments were offered and rejected.

In the course of the discussion, Mr. Kasson of lown made a motion to close the debate, saying. Let the dead rest in peace."

Mr. Bragg asked Mr. Taylor whether it was fact tashe had seen stated in the newspapers) that a communication had been received by the select committee, requesting payment of the expenses of the militin of Onlo for attendance at the funcral, Mr. Taylor whether it was the result of a mistake on his own part. He had found o unanimous consent to report a bill directing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay to Lucretia R. Garfield, widow of the late President Garfield, 450 000, less any sum raid to him on account of his salary as President.

The bill was read and passed unanimously.

ABSENT EXECUTOR UNDERHILL.

Mr. O'Gorman's Claims with Regard to the Wasting of a Large Estate.

The case of Philip R. Underhill, sole executor of his mother's will, was again before Surrogate Coffin at White Plains yesterday. Mr. Rodman, of counsel for some of the heirs, moved that the executor be the orders of the Court, issued on May 22, requiring him to d posit with the National Trust Company of New York $40,000 in cash within five days, and a further sum of $40,000 within thirly days, in addition to depositing bonds and mortgages of the face value of $250,000. The $60,000, which was to have been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter part of June, had not been deposited in the latter read and additional to surrogate requiring him cause why he should not be punished for contempt slow cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

Mr. Larkin, of counsel for the executor, asked for a further postponement, claiming that Mr. Inderhall had already deposited securities for double the amount claimed by the complaining heirs.

Mr. Richard O'German said he was surprised that rounsel for the executor should come three time after time and make such misrepresentations in the case, that the property in Mr. Inderhills control was being wasted by him; that there is a loss of $80,000 in money belonging to the estate is note transaction on the part of the executor, who claimed that he had invested that amount in bonds of the New York and New England Rairond Company, but had loaned it to an individual whose notes are not worth ten cents on the dollar. The counsel for the executor claimed that they could raise $50,000 in two hours on the secreties. If such was the case, he would ask why they did not do it, and thus releven their from the risk of going to prison for contempt. with the National Trust Company of New Surrogate Coffin reserved his decision. The Newport Casino Granted a License.

Newport, July 14.—This was the day set apart for the granting of licen es, and a desperate effort was made by interested parties to prevent Mr William H. Fearing, the Casino restaurateur, from having one. The law says that the Aldermen "may grant licenses to citizens and residents of the several citizen and towns." When Mr. Fearing's application was reached there was read an extraordinary protest from Mr. Patrick J. Galvin, a young lawyer, and the counsel for Mr. Nolan, over whose application this whole trouble has apring up, in which Galvin claimed that Mr. Fearing was not a resident within the meaning of the saturte. Everybody was actorished that Mr. Galvin should do such a thing, even if his argument were tenable; but the City Nolicitor came and advised the Aldermen that the fact that Mr. Pearing came here and did business during the season, and resided here all the summer, made, him a resident under the meaning of the act. The Solicitor also said that he had twice previously given his opinion to Mr. Casing in the same effect. After some forther discussion Mr. Fearing was granted a license by a vote of 4 to 1. H. CITY RAILWAY TAXATION.

Objections of Elevated and Surface Compa-nies to the Tax Commissioners' Action.

Writs of certiorari were allowed by Judge Haight in the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, to issue for the purpose of having the assessments put by the Tax Commissioners upon the real estate of the New York Elevated Railroad Co. and the Metropolitan Elevated Railway Co. reviewed. At the same time orders were granted directing the Board of Aldermen to show cause on Thursday next why they should not be restrained from levying or collecting or attempting to collect the taxes based upon these assessments. In the orders were temporary injunctions restraining the actio of the Aldermen between now and the deter-

The elevated railroad companies assert that the assessments put upon their real estate are illegal and erroneous. The New York Company's real estate, which consists of its elevated roadway columns, stations, rails, &c., is assessed at a valuation of $9.127.250. In the petition the company says that the cost of this property up to the second Monday of January, 1892, was $8,843,853.88. From this sum it claims that a deduction should be made of the cost of new work since the original structures were completed, and that the result would be a fair appraisement of the value of the structures in January, 1882. Woodbury Insisting on a Formal Discharge Edwin C. Woodbury, who was pronounced sane by a Sheriff's jury on the 6th inst. after two years' confinement in Bioomingdale Asylum, has remained in the asylum since the verdict of the jury, awaiting his formal discharge. His counsel, E. F. Wilder, made the requisite motion before Judge Haight yesterday. Cephas Brainard, for the family of Mr. Woodbury, said that phas Brainard for the family of Mr. Woodbury, said that the family would make no objection to his having his liberty, in order that it might be tested whether he could control blimed. He declared that since the vertict of the jury Mr. Woodbury had refused to go out of the asy lum, but said he intended to remain and study music.

Judge Hailth and that, since Mr. Woodbury was committed to the asylum by process of law, it was proper for the asylum authorities to detail him until he was discharged by the same process. He therefore consent ed to the order for Mr. Woodbury a dhecharge. As to the assertion that Mr. Woodbury had refused to leave the asylum, Mr. Wilder said that it was true that Mr. Woodbury fad refused to leave the asylum, Mr. Wilder said that it was true that Mr. Woodbury fad refused to be discharged through a side door but had instead upon having a vindication of his sanity. Mr. Wilder added, "And I think he got it."

The prisoner, whose broad-brimmed has was tipped on the side of her head in a januity way, put her bandkerchie to her eyes, but did not seem to weep. In answer to the usual questions she said that she was a hair comber.
